

The Charlotte Democrat.

THIS PAPER IS 41 YEARS OLD

CHARLOTTE, N. C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1893.

VOLUME XII.—NUMBER 1496.

THE CHARLOTTE DEMOCRAT
PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY
J. P. STRONG.

TERMS—One Dollar and Fifty Cents in advance for 1 year—Two Dollars on time.

Entered at the Post Office in Charlotte, N. C., as second class matter, according to the rules of the P. O. Department.

J. P. STRONG, W. C. MAXWELL, J. W. KERRANS

OSBORNE, MAXWELL & KERRANS,
Attorneys at Law,
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Offices 1 and 3 Law Building.
Will practice in the State and Federal Courts.
Oct. 20, 1893.

DRS. M. A. & C. A. BLAND,
Dentists,
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

No. 21 TAYLOR STREET.
Jan. 3, 1893.

J. P. MCCOMBS, M. D.,
Offers his professional services to the citizens of Charlotte and surrounding country. All calls, both night and day, promptly attended to.

Office in Brown's building, up stairs, opposite Charlotte Hotel.
Jan. 1, 1893.

F. D. WALKER, E. T. CANSLER
WALKER & CANSLER,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Offices, Rooms Nos. 6 and 7, Law Building
Jan. 6, 1893.

CLARKSON & DUL,
Attorneys at Law,
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Prompt attention given to all business intrusted. Will practice in all Courts of the State.
Office No. 12 Law Building.
Oct. 7, 1892.

HUGH W. HARRIS, W. M. LITTLE,
Formerly of Richmond Co.
HARRIS & LITTLE,
Attorneys and Counselors at Law,
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Practice in all the Courts. Special and prompt attention to collection of claims, Compting, Negotiation of Loans and Settlement of Estates.
Office, first door west of Court House.
Jan. 29, 1893.

H. N. PHARR,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office No. 14, Law Building.

Prompt attention to all business intrusted. Special attention given to claims. Practices in State and Federal Courts.
Jan. 6, 1893.

BOYNE & BADGER,
LEADING JEWELERS,
SOUTH TRYON ST., CHARLOTTE, N. C.

DEALERS IN
Diamonds, Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Silver and Plated Ware.
Special attention given to Repairing Fine Watches.
March 6, 1893.

JOHN FARRIOR,
WATERMAKER AND JEWELER,
DEALER IN
Diamonds, Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Silver and Silver Plated Ware.

Special attention given to Fine Watch Repairing.
March 28, 1893.

THE WHITE FRONT DRUG STORE,
NO. 15, SOUTH COLLEGE STREET,
Keeps a well assorted stock of all articles usually kept in a Drug House.

J. B. ALEXANDER.
The Poor prescribed for free.
April, 8, 1893.

E. NYE HUTCHISON & CO.,
FIRE INSURANCE.

Offices—16 East Trade Street; 4 North Tryon Street, up stairs.
Feb. 19, 1893.

NEW DRUG STORE,
A fresh line of Medicines, Drugs, Paints, Oils, Toilet Articles, Garden and Flower Seeds and all articles usually found in a well regulated Drug Store like the white front on College street.

J. B. ALEXANDER.
Feb. 26, 1893.

PHOTOGRAPHS
OF
ALL SIZES AND IN FINEST FINISH.

WATER COLOR, PASTEL,
AND
CRAYON PORTRAITS
Of the First Grade All Work Guaranteed.
Call and see us.

J. H. VAN NESS & SON,
June 9, 1893.

CROWELL MILLING CO.,
Charlotte, N. C.

Patrons can have their Corn made into choice Meal (either bolted or unbolted) at the old "Star Mill." Saturday is regular mill day, for custom grinding.

W. M. CROWELL, Manager.
March 10, 1893.

"I was reminded of my own youth this morning," said a middle aged man, "when in a suburban town I saw a small boy getting a drink at a public pump. The handle of the pump was in line with the spout, on the other side, and when the boy was at the handle he couldn't see the spout. He made a jump at the handle, caught it, and pulled down on it, crooking his knees as he brought the handle down so that he might get a longer sweep on it. Three times he worked the handle and then he rushed around to the spout, but he hadn't started the water yet. Then he went back. Three times more and the water flows, and now the small boy holds his hand across the under side of the spout and gets a drink. Ever do that?"

Sale of Land.
By virtue of a power contained in a Deed of Trust, made to me by George Blackwell and wife, on the 18th day of May, 1889, I will sell at public auction at the Court House, in the City of Charlotte, N. C., on Monday, the 18th day of December, 1893, at 12 o'clock M., all the land in said City, particularly described in said Deed of Trust, registered in Book 86, Page 290, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Mecklenburg County.

This is the 15th day of November, 1893.
W. C. MAXWELL, Trustee.
Nov. 17, 1893 5w

Commissioner's Sale of Land.
By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Mecklenburg County, I will, on Monday, the 4th day of December, 1893, at 12 o'clock M., sell at public auction at the Court House, in the City of Charlotte, N. C., on Monday, the 11th day of December, 1893, at 12 o'clock M., all the land in said City, particularly described in the said Deed of Trust, registered in Book 78, Page 187, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Mecklenburg County. Terms made known on day of sale.

W. C. MAXWELL, Trustee.
Nov. 4, 1893. 4w

Sale of City Property.
(Re-advertised)
By virtue of a power contained in a Deed of Trust, executed to me on the 30th day of December, 1890, by Allen Lewis and wife, I will sell at public auction at the Court House, in the City of Charlotte, N. C., on Monday, the 11th day of December, 1893, at 12 o'clock M., all the land in said City, particularly described in the said Deed of Trust, registered in Book 78, Page 187, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Mecklenburg County. Terms made known on day of sale.

W. C. MAXWELL, Trustee.
Nov. 10, 1893. 5w

Commissioner's Sale of Land.
(Re-advertised)
By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Mecklenburg County, I shall, on Monday, the 4th day of December, 1893, at 12 o'clock M., sell at the Court House door in Charlotte, N. C., to the highest bidder at Public Auction, the following valuable tracts of land: 1. The Home Tract of the late I. N. Alexander, situated in Sharon Township and containing one hundred and twenty-four and one-half acres. 2. The tract known as the House Mine tract, adjoining the Home Tract and the lands of A. G. Kirkpatrick, H. K. DeArmon and others, containing 77 acres; and 3. An undivided one-half interest in the tract known as the House Mine tract, situated in Crab Orchard Township, containing 22 1/2 acres. Said lands will be sold to make as to pay debts of, and charges upon, the estate of I. N. Alexander deceased.

Terms of Sale—One-fourth cash, balance in secured notes of one and two years time, with interest at 8 per cent. Purchasers may anticipate payments.
H. N. PHARR, Commissioner.
Nov. 3, 1893. 6w

Administrator's Notice.
Having qualified as administrator of the estate of Dr. Joseph A. Ardrey, late of Mecklenburg County, N. C., all persons having claims against the estate of said deceased, are hereby notified to present them to me for payment on or before the 10th day of October, 1894. All persons indebted to the estate of said Dr. Joseph A. Ardrey, are notified to make immediate payment to me. This is the 10th day of October, 1893.

W. E. ARDREY, Adm'r.
of Joseph A. Ardrey, dec'd.
Oct. 13, 1893.

WE HAVE THE MOST COMPLETE STOCK
of
Hardware, Cutlery, Guns,

AMMUNITION,
Carriage, and Wagon Material,
Woodware, and Queenware in the South.

Call and see us
and buy from us any goods in our line that you may need. We will promise to sell as low as any one else and as low as the lowest.

BROWN, WEDDINGTON & CO.,
29, East Trade Street
Oct. 20, 1893.

B. NICHOLS.
Those Slideboards that I'm SELLING FOR TEN DOLLARS are made of solid oak.

HAVE GERMAN PLATE MIRRORS
and are first class in every respect. They would cost you at least 25 per cent if bought elsewhere. Of course I have them at a great deal more, but for $20 or $25 I can sell you a beauty. Be sure to come in and see for yourself.

BURGESS NICHOLS,
Furniture Dealer
May 19, 1893.

Stitch Downs.
Farmers wanting comfort in shoes should try our old fashioned Stitch-downs, price $1.25. These give good wear, and at this price are in the reach of all. Our line of shoes for working people is the best to be found in the country. Call and see them.

GILREATH & CO.
Oct. 13, 1893.

Little One Sleep.
Little one sleep!
Dear withered find, we will not weep,
For God in His wise Providence
Knew best, and took thy spirit hence,
And where His angels vigils keep,
Little one sleep!

Little one sleep!
In restful slumbers soft and deep,
Beneath the brown September leaves
Where wild of autumn moans and grieves,
Though wintry tears thy grave shall steep,
Little one sleep!

Little one sleep!
Sometime the April suns will peep
Above the hills, green leaves will spring
Around thy bed, wild birds will sing
And springtime's earliest zephyr creep
Little one sleep!

Little one sleep!
Never dreaming of the storms that sweep
The human soul in mortal sin,
With fears without and foes within—
New grief on bitter anguish heap—
Little one sleep!

Little one sleep!
Thy happier lot shall be to reap
Joy with no sorrowing need to sow;
Smiles where no blinding tears shall flow
From life to life one painless leap—
Little one sleep!

Little one sleep!
Thy memory in our hearts we'll keep,
Striving to turn the joy we miss
Into a hope of holier bliss,
When these dimmed eyes no more shall weep—
Little one sleep!

—Atlanta Journal. M. M. POLSON.

"Away! Away! There is danger here!
A terrible phantom is bending near:
With no human look, with no human breath,
He stands beside thee—the hunter—
Death!"

If there is one disease more than another that comes like the unbidden guest at a banquet, it is Catarrh. Insidiously it steals upon you, "with no human breath" it gradually, like the octopus, winds its coils about you and crushes you. But there is a medicine, called Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, that can tear you away from the monster, and turn the agony's point of the reaper. The makers of this wonderful remedy offer, in good faith, a standing reward of $500 for an incurable case of Catarrh in the Head.

OUR IMMENSE STOCK OF
BUGGIES, CARRIAGES, PHAETONS,
FARM WAGONS, ETC.,
We will sell at Prices Never Before Made In
This community.

DO NOT BUY
Before coming to see us, as you can get the
BEST BARGAINS HERE.

FOR CASH,
We will sell you anything in our Repository
AT COST!! AT COST!!!
This is not idle talk. Come and
BE CONVINCED!!!

J. W. Wadsworth & Son.
Oct. 27, 1893.

LONG, TATE & JOHNSTON,
CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS.

EXTREME MERIT,
GREATEST VALUE,
PERFECT FASHION.

Each point is watched most carefully and a high standard of excellence maintained in the clothing we offer, a glance at our line will tell the story.

ARE YOU AWARE THAT WE ARE
SELLING THE BEST SPRING
RAIMENT IN THIS MARKET.

We enable you to wear a suit of clothes no longer bearing ready made upon the face—but having every appearance of a made-to-order garment. Avail yourself of the opportunity.

ALL THE NOVELTIES
as well as the
FIRST-CLASS STAPLES

are represented on our counters, nothing is missing. Your loss as well as ours if you fail to secure the best. Every thing in furnishings and hats.

LONG, TATE & JOHNSTON,
One Price Clothiers
43 S. Tryon St.
March 31, 1893.

Old Lady's Comfort.
Soft-Dongola, Goat, Half High-Cut, Extra Wide Soles, Flexible Sewed, Low Heels—Price $1.50. This is the "Old Folks'" Ideal Comfort Shoe, and is great value at the price; sizes 4 to 9. Give us a call for good shoes. One price to all.

GILREATH & CO.
Oct. 6, 1893.

Hardware Shoe.
Here is a shoe made of the best year old flesh kip, lined and bound, screw fastened, and fully warranted. This is a shoe any woman could be proud to wear who has to work about the lot and garden. Will keep the feet dry, and surely last a year. This shoe is made for those who want the best, and is a cheap shoe in the end.

PRICE $1.50.
You will do well to see all of our shoes. One price to all.
GILREATH & CO.
Oct. 13, 1893.

What "Standard Time" Is.
Standard time is the name given to a system of time keeping adopted in 1883, by which the United States are divided into four divisions, the time in each place in any one of which is the same as that of all other places therein. Before 1883 there were seven or eight different time standards in use by American railroads; a traveler from Boston to Washington would have to set his watch five times to keep correct time on his trip.

In Hartford, Conn., some trains were run by New York time, others by Boston time and the people themselves used local time. Finally the railroad managers decided that they would divide the country into sections, each of which should have its own time and so arranged that the standard time of any section should be one hour ahead of that of the next western section, and one hour ahead of that of the next eastern section.

The four sections are respectively: The eastern, taking in the Atlantic coast down to Charleston, S. C., the line running from Charleston irregularly to a line running north and south from Detroit; the central, all territory between this line and a line running from Bismarck, N. D., to the mouth of the Rio Grande; the mountain section takes in from this line to the western borders of Idaho, Utah and Arizona; west of this line is the Pacific section.

The eastern section takes its time from Philadelphia, which has 75 degrees of west longitude; the central from St. Louis, 90 degrees west of Greenwich; the mountain section from Leadville, 105 degrees west, and the Pacific section from Virginia City, Nev., 120 degrees west. The sections are about 15 degrees of longitude in width. Provision is made for an intercolonial section, the time of which will be standard time in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Non-standard time is the time shown by the sun; it is "local time."—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Hard to Recognize as Bob
At Antietam, just after the artillery had been sharply engaged at the Rockford (Virginia) battery, was standing awaiting orders. General Lee rode by and stopped a moment. A dirty-faced driver of about seventeen years old to him: "General, are you going to put us in again?"

Think of such a question from such a source, addressed to the general of the army, especially when that general's name was Lee!

"Yes, my boy," the stately officer kindly answered, "I have to put you in again. But what is your name? Your face seems familiar to me somehow."

"I don't wonder you didn't know me, sir, I'm so dirty," laughed the lad, "but I'm Bob."

It was the general's youngest son, whom he had thought safe at the Virginia military institute.—Washington Post.

A lawyer who was sometimes forgetful, having been engaged to plead the cause of an offender, began by saying: "I know the prisoner at the bar, and he bears the character of being a most consummate and impudent scoundrel!"

Here somebody whispered to him that the prisoner was his client, when he immediately continued:—"But what great and good man ever lived who was not calumniated by many of his contemporaries?"

"The greatest thing which any man can do for the world is to make the utmost of the power, the force, and the character which are given him, and he can do this only by taking constant thought of the conditions which elicit what is deepest and greatest in his nature. Outlook.

It is stated that a pail of water containing a handful of hay, if placed in a room where there has been smoking, will absorb all the odor of the tobacco.

Corn can be fed cattle without shucking.

Then and Now.
In ancient days for many an ill,
We used to take a big blue pill,
It did so surely tear and gripe,
We felt for purgatory ripe.

To-day, when sick, we take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are gently aperient or strongly cathartic, according to size of dose. Cures Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Put up in vials, hermetically sealed, hence always fresh and reliable. Purely vegetable, they operate without disturbance to the system, diet or occupation. Sold by druggists, at 25 cents a vial.

G. S. READ & CO.,
CHINA, GLASS WARE
AND HOUSE FURNISHINGS.

OUR FALL STOCK
In everything for the House and Kitchen is now complete, and for Reliable Goods at Fair Prices,
You will do well to come to our store.

WE BUY THE BEST GRADES IN EVERY LINE, and will give you the Worth of Your Money Every Time

Choice English Dinner Sets, Decorated,
$10, $15, and $17.00.

The best English Stone China Cups and Saucers, Plates, etc., that will not crackle, or craze.

Great Bargains in all kinds of GLASS WARE.

We keep the best grade of TIN WARE and GRANITE IRON WARE.

G. S. READ & CO.
Sept. 8, 1893.

I Forget It.
A successful business man says there are two things which he learned when he was eighteen which were afterwards of great use to him—namely, "Never to lose anything, and never to forget anything."

An old lawyer sent him with an important paper, with certain instructions what to do with it. "But," inquired the young man, "suppose I should lose it; what shall I do then?"

"You must not lose it," said the young man, "I don't mean to," said the young man, "but suppose I should."

"But I say you must not; I shall make no provision for such an occurrence. You must not lose it."

This put a new train of thought into the young man's mind, and he found that if he was determined to do a thing he could do it. He made such a provision against every contingency that he never lost anything. He found this equally true about forgetting.

If a certain matter of importance was to be remembered, he pinned it down on his mind fastened it there and made it stay. He used to say, "When a man tells me that he forgot to do something, I tell him he might have said 'I do not care enough about your business to take the trouble to think about it again.'"

I once had an intelligent young man in my employment who deemed it sufficient excuse for neglecting any important task to say, "I forgot it." I told him that it would not answer. If he was sufficiently interested he would be careful to remember.

I was because he did not care enough that he forgot it. I drilled him with this truth. He worked for me three years, and during the last of the three he was utterly changed in this respect. He did not forget a thing. His forgetting, he found, was a lazy careless habit of the mind, which he cured.—Ex.

A Pretty Incident.
The most beautiful thing I saw at the Fair was an old woman in one of the wheel chairs, her son pushing it. Her white hair and care-furrowed face showed she had waited more than threescore and ten years for one of the happiest days of her life. The plain dress proved neither was rich in purse; but she was rich in joy, her father had died in making his mother happy. I shall forget many wonderful things I saw at the Fair, but never forget this little old woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life face under the aureole of white hair, as her stalwart son bent over and told her some new wonder they were coming to. "Are we almost there, son?" she asked in her eagerness. "Yes, mother," he said, smiling at her childlike enjoyment, "and it will take your breath this time sure." And she laughed like a girl and he chuckled like a delightful boy as they passed on, not knowing that anybody noticed them. Perhaps no one else saw their happiness, but he was the one man on the grounds I envied. O, the proud step as he pushed the chair of the queen of all the world to him! Ah! her proud look as she rode through the throng, attended by the kindest of men—the man who honors his mother. How much better that money was spent than to wait till mother died, and a woman in black, resting so cozily in that rolling chair, her joy-life